

City Charter

The City of Crowley is incorporated as a political subdivision of the State of Texas, and has all powers possible for a city under the Constitution and Laws of this State as fully and completely as though they were specifically enumerated in its Charter. The city government is a "Council-Manager Government" and the City Council, led by the Mayor, is vested with all powers of the City.

Amended on May 5, 2001, the Home Rule Charter for the city of Crowley is explained in twelve (12) Articles.

Article I - Form of Government and Boundaries

Article II - Rights and Powers of the City

Article III - The City Council

Article IV - Municipal Elections

Article V - Municipal Administration

Article VI - Finance

Article VII - Revenue and Taxation

Article VIII - Boards and Commissions

Article IX - Municipal Court

Article X - Franchises and Public Utilities

Article XI - Initiative, Referendum and Recall

Article XII - General Provisions

If you would like a complete copy of the City Charter, please contact the City Secretary's Office.